Working Together

WDKX and the Rhinos are teaming up to make the game of soccer fun and exciting.

When Andrew A. Langston was growing up in Georgia, he used to cadie at a local golf course. He observed how the men would swing the club, chip around the greens and line up their putts to finish the hole out. To this day, Langston uses that power of observation to help his golf game (he's a scratch golfer), and teach a very important lesson to today's youth.

Langston, owner of Rochester radio station WDKX-FM, is a firm believer that sports has a positive effect on youth. That's why he is excited that professional soccer is back in town, and he wholeheartedly supports the Rochester Raging Rhinos of the American Professional Soccer League.

"I'm glad that the Rhinos are here in Rochester," says Langston. "It's another sporting and entertainment alternative for the kids in the summertime. The lesson I try to tell the kids is if you watch a game long enough, then you can do it. I really believe that with all of the kids playing soccer in the area, the city of Rochester will embrace the Rhinos and welcome pro soccer back."

Langston, who named his radio station after Frederick Douglass, Martin Luther King and Malcolm X, - WDKX - is a firm believer that giving back to the community is priority number one for all of his businesses, especially the radio station. After 22 years on the air, WDKX is a leader among the local media in providing community support in Rochester.

"I love when the different communities of this area mix together in an atmosphere of fun and partnership," continues Langston. "Soccer is a world-wide sport, the one game in the world that really brings everyone together for the good of the game. I know that kids of all races and backgrounds will be attending Rhino games this summer. More importantly, the Rhinos are making a commitment back to the community by reaching out with their players and staff by holding clinics and games for the kids. It's another outlet in the city for kids to use their energy in a positive way."

WDKX and the Rhinos will partner this summer in many projects aimed at youth soccer and the involvement of people of all colors. Soccer is a team sport, and what better game to show that if you work together, good things will happen.

"Everyone can learn to play - if you listen, practice and keep the mind and body in shape, only positive things will come from the experience," says Langston. "The players on the Rhinos, they know that practice and positive thoughts only help their game. That is what they need to teach the kids."

WDKX and the Rhinos are teaming up to make the game of soccer fun and exciting. Working together to make the Rochester community a better place to live.

VICE-PRESIDENT/GENERAL MANAGER

Chris Economides

Chris Economides returns to the game of professional soccer in his hometown as Vice-President and General Manager of the Rhinos. Economides has teamed with Steve Donner and Frank DuRoss as owners of the A-League expansion franchise, and he brings to the team a soccer background and ownership experience.

Economides previously was co-owner of the Kansas City Attack of the indoor NPSL for two seasons, 1991-92 and 1992-93. The Attack captured the NPSL championship in 1992-93, finishing a successful regular season and defeating Cleveland 3-2 in the finals before 12,000 in Kemper Arena.

A native of Rochester, Chris graduated from MCC and Eastridge High School. He has owned various restaurants in the area while pursuing his soccer dream. Chris, his wife Donna and their two sons are active in youth soccer, hockey and baseball.

HEAD COACH

Pat Ercoli

Guiding the Rhinos in their inaugural season of A-League play is Pat Ercoli, a 37 year-old native of Toronto who is no stranger to Rochester soccer fans. Ercoli starred for the Rochester Lancers of the NASL for three seasons (1978-80), where his hard work and tenacious play made him a fan favorite. He will bring that same philosophy to the Rhinos as he prepares the expansion club for its first season.

Ercoli began his professional soccer career with Toronto Italia (NSL) in 1976 before moving to the Toronto Castors the following season, winning a championship. While playing the next three seasons with the Lancers, Ercoli adopted the indoor game as well, playing for the New York Arrows of the MISL. Ercoli also played with Detroit, Buffalo and Baltimore in the MISL before closing his ten-year professional career with the Cleveland Force. He captured three MISL division championships and one overall league title while with Baltimore.

Since his retirement from the pro game, Ercoli has lived in Rochester with his wife Karen and four children while entering private business. He kept active in soccer by coaching youth leagues, and has spent time as an assistant coach with Finger Lakes Community College and Monroe Community College.

ASSISTANT COACH

Frank Odoi

Former Lancer Frank Odoi rejoins teammate Pat Ercoli in the Rhinos first season of A-League play as assistant coach. A popular soccer figure in the city of Rochester, Odoi played nine seasons with the Lancers from 1970 through 1978, helping Rochester to the NASL championship in 1970. The native of Ghana, Africa has played against such stars as Pele (Brazil), Johann Cruiff (Holland), Eusebio (Portugal), George Best (England) and Franz Beckenbauer (Germany) during his 18-year pro career.

Odoi began his professional career in Ghana, where he played for the National Team and represented Ghana in the 1964 Tokyo Olympics. He was selected as the best player in Tunis in 1965 as Ghana captured the African Cup. Drafted by the Washington Whips of the NASL in 1966, Odoi came to the United States in 1968 and played for the Whips that season before moving to the Syracuse Scorpions in 1969. Odoi was the Lancers MVP for the 1974 and 1975 seasons, playing both the forward and midfield positions.

Odoi recently was assistant soccer coach at Brockport State, and he has coached many championship youth soccer teams in the area during the past years.

Marinaro Sweeps Back into The Outdoor Game

Indoor Legend Leads Rhinos Defense

By Justin Raj

Rhinos' team captain, Hector Marinaro, is no stranger to adversity. Earlier this year, he and his Cleveland Crunch teammates were down two games to none against the Kansas City Attack in the indoor National Professional Soccer League's championship series. Marinaro saw his team's regular season success, and his league scoring title, going to waste. All of the Crunch's achievements that season were going to be meaningless statistics if they couldn't find a way to turn the series around and win the championship.

Of course, the burden of doing so fell onto Marinaro's back. Granted, he was surrounded by arguably one of the most talented rosters in professional soccer in this country, indoor or outdoor. However, when you are the second all-time leader on the United States Indoor Soccer scoring list and have played for 13 seasons, your fans, coaches and teammates look to you to bring them back. Hector Marinaro knew that was the case, and he went to work.

The Rhinos' sweeper led Cleveland to four straight victories over the Attack and won the NPSL championship. So when he sees the faces of his teammates in Rochester, Hector is more than familiar with their hungry, desperate look. Regardless of the fact that it is their first season, Marinaro's experience makes him a natural leader on the backline for the Rhinos.

Marinaro knows that nothing less than a championship will satisfy his teammates, the fans, and himself. However, he knows that his role with the Raging Rhinos is a different one than in Cleveland.

His goal-scoring prowess is what has made him an indoor legend, yet his role in Rochester is that of a defender. "In Cleveland,

I am paid to put the ball into the back of the net,” remarked Marinaro, discussing his different roles, “Here, my job is to stop opponents from scoring goals. So I have to approach the game from a completely different perspective, and let my teammates concentrate on scoring.”

Hector’s Cleveland teammates who have joined him with the Rhinos are the ones who have had the scoring burden placed on them. Forwards Zoran Karic and Doug Miller, along with midfielder Tommy Tanner, are a trio of talented attackers whose one-on-one skills have helped them find the goal numerous times in their careers. Marinaro credits them for much of the Crunch’s accomplishments and sees them as the key to a Raging Rhinos championship.

“Doug is dangerous because of his speed, he can run onto almost any ball. If he had been a little more lucky so far this season he could have four or five goals already,” said Marinaro, about his Crunch teammates with the Rhinos. “Tommy is the hardest worker I know. He is always up and down the field and gives a 110 percent. Zoran is simply the best one-on-one player I have ever stepped onto the field with. When the ball is at his feet, he can go by any defender he wants.”

Along with his current Cleveland Crunch teammates, Marinaro has played in the past with Rochester goalkeeper Billy Andracki, who was also with Cleveland for two years before moving on to Tampa Bay. Hector believes that his past playing experience with Andracki has been invaluable in building the Raging Rhinos defense.

“Communication between Billy and myself is much easier because we know each other. The familiarity allows us to adjust to situations in games much more quickly than would happen otherwise,” stated Marinaro.

He also credits the hard work of his teammates on the back line, Leon Minott and Yuri Smotrich, for the team’s success defensively. “The first couple of games it was hard because Yuri doesn’t speak any English. But, as time has gone on we have found ways to communicate and we have improved noticeably,” remarked Marinaro. “Leon is an extremely tough and determined player. His tenacity allows him to play bigger than his size.”

Hector firmly believes that with his teammates which have joined him from Cleveland and with the new faces he has met here in Rochester, the Rhinos will overcome the adversity they have faced as an expansion team and will contend for the A-League title.

“I don’t think that there is a team that we have faced so far that we couldn’t have beaten,” said Marinaro, regarding the rest of the A-League, “With a few wins we’ll be right there with them come the end of the season.”

And, with Marinaro’s past accomplishments it’s hard to doubt him.

Hector Marinaro has taken the ball and run with it since being named captain of the Rhinos.

New Names, Old Traditions

For generations, Rochester has enjoyed a rich soccer tradition. Fans have been treated to exciting matches watching the greatest international stars of all time. The tradition continues as the Rochester Rhinos take to the pitch at the newly christened Frontier Field.

Equal in tradition is Rochester's involvement in the document processing industry. For over 25 years, Kex has been a leader in bringing area organizations the stars of copying technology.

The tradition continues as Kex becomes IKON Office Solutions. IKON will continue to lead the industry as the original member of Alco Standard's office products group- the largest network of independent office equipment dealers in North America.

IKON, Frontier Field's official copier supplier, wishes the best of luck to the Rhinos in their new home. Both of our names are new, but the tradition of excellence remains the same.

Impact

Lloyd Barker #11
Forward

Ht/Grandeur: 5-10/1m75
Wt/Poids: 170lbs/77kg
DOB/Naissance: Dec. 12, 1969
Last/Dernier Club: Harbour View F.C., Jamaica

With a three-year contract in hand, Barker is determined to pick up where he left off in Montreal. Voted the club's Most Valuable Player last year, Barker had his best season ever with the Impact, tallying 10 goals and 6 assists (26 points). The Jamaican native is now the Impact's all-time leading scorer with 19 goals and 12 assists (50 points) in regular season play and three goals and one assist (7 points) in the playoffs. Barker was part of the Impact's starting eleven in '94 that clinched the A-League championship. That year, he also won the Jamaican championship with Harbour View F.C.

Paolo Ceccarelli #1
GoalKeeper

Ht/Grandeur: 5-11/1m80
Wt/Poids: 165lbs/74,7kg
DOB/Naissance: Oct. 12, 1969
Last/Dernier Club: Impact de Montréal F.C.

With his skill and reflexes—and helped by a strong Montreal defense – Ceccarelli set a new team record last year, registering eight shutouts (the previous record of 7 shutouts belonged to Pat Harrington). Ceccarelli finished the '95 season with a GAA of 1.00, tied for first place with Seattle goalkeeper Marcus Hahnmann. Voted to the A-League All-Star Team, he was the starting goalkeeper during All-Star game against UNAM Pumas (July 17), which the A-League won 2-0.

Nick DeSantis #4
Midfielder

Ht/Grandeur: 5-11/1m80
Wt/Poids: 165lbs/75kg
DOB/Naissance: Sept. 12, 1969
Last/Dernier Club: Chicago Power (NPSL)

The heart and soul of the Montreal Impact, Nick DeSantis was named team captain May 12, 1995, replacing Patrice Ferri. Renowned for his hard work and perseverance, he was a member of Canadian National Team for the international match against Chile (Oct. 11), which Canada lost 0-2. In the off season, DeSantis played with the Kansas City Attack and the Chicago Power of the National Professional Soccer League. DeSantis was part of the Impact's starting eleven in '94 that clinched the A-League championship.

Coach's Notes

Valerio Gazzola
Head Coach

A lot of the guys on the team have the general feeling that something was left unfinished last season.

I'm proud of the fact that we finished in first place last year, and you have to give credit to the players who maintained the same level of play despite a hectic schedule.

But our semifinal loss to Atlanta was difficult to accept, and I am sure the players want to set the record straight this year.

In a way, we've come full circle. We celebrated a championship win in '94 and suffered a cruel shootout loss last season.

If you think about it, since the team didn't make the playoffs in '93, it was the first time the Impact was eliminated in post-season play.

As a team, you can only grow from such an experience – and do your utmost to make sure it never happens again.

Club History

In November 1994, Atlanta was awarded an A-League franchise. The Atlanta Magic of the USISL, formerly an indoor/outdoor team, developed into the Ruckus in an effort to have the highest level outdoor team in the country for local players to aspire to.

The team ownership was granted to Johnny Immerman in January 1995. Under Immerman, the Ruckus brought in former U.S. National Team coach Lothar Osiander, as well as National Team veterans John Doyle and Bruce Murray. Under their leadership, they guided the inaugural Ruckus to a Championship appearance in 1995.

The Ruckus recorded their first ever franchise victory in its first game, a 2-1 shoot-out victory in Vancouver. In a dramatic home opener, the Ruckus erased a two goal deficit to defeat Colorado, again in a shoot-out. The Ruckus were then victorious in their first-ever playoff appearance against the Montreal Impact. Atlanta closed out the season with an amazing 11-2 record in shoot-outs, a feat unmatched by any other team.

Last Season

Last season proved to be an exciting way to bring Professional soccer back to Atlanta. From a dramatic home opener to coming within one victory away from a Championship, the Ruckus turned a lot of heads in 1995.

The Ruckus won seven of their first ten games and had a perfect 4-0 record at home. Forwards Staale Soebye and Lenin Steenkamp led all A-League scoring, and Atlanta hosted the League's first annual All-Star Game against UNAM Pumas of the Mexican First Division.

Despite a mid-season slump, the Ruckus won the season finale and was headed into the post-season. After a dramatic three game Semi-final Series that saw Atlanta defeat defending champion Montreal, it was on to a Championship Series showdown with the Seattle Sounders. Once again, Atlanta showed they were a team of destiny by defeating Seattle in the opening game, coming within one win from a championship. As the season went, the playoffs would be no different, as Atlanta went to a shoot-out in Game 3 of the Championship before conceding to the Sounders.

The Ruckus also had its share of honors. Lothar Osiander was named "Coach of the Year" by his peers. Captain John Doyle earned "Defender of the Year" with his tenacious play, and Staale Soebye was named forward on the post-season "All-League" squad.

Ruckus

Chris Faklaris
Forward

The Ruckus add more scoring punch up front with the addition of Chris Faklaris. The South Carolina standout was their top offensive weapon, scoring 55 goals and 14 assists for 124 pts., including 12 game winning goals in his stellar four year career. These numbers rank him second among the all-time leading scorers in Gamecock history. Faklaris was Second Team All-American in 1993 and 1994. He brings great size and good speed as well as a strong presence in the air. He played in 1994 and 1995 with the U.S. Under-23 National Team and has played in numerous Olympic Festivals. Faklaris led the U.S. Under-20 National Team to an eighth place finish at the 1993 World Youth Championships in Australia, during which he recorded a hat trick against Turkey. The Atlanta native was also the 1991 Georgia Gatorade High School Player of the Year.

Mun Young Yi
Goalkeeper

Yi, former member of the Korean National Team and San Francisco Blackhawks, comes off an outstanding 1995 season. Despite a slow start, Yi recorded 2 shutouts during the regular season and won 4 out of the last 5 games to carry the Ruckus into their first-ever post-season appearance. Mun continued his spectacular play into the playoffs, recording Atlanta's first ever playoff victory against then defending champion Montreal and again in Game 1 of the Championship Series against Seattle. Yi had a 1.63 goals against average over 14 games and will be the starting netminder going into the 1996 season.

Greg Sheen
Defender

Former 3-time national indoor champion with the Atlanta Magic, Greg Sheen returns for his second season with the Ruckus. Sheen will be the backbone to a stingy defense that shut down the high-powered Montreal Impact in the 1995 post-season. As a former leading scorer with the University of North Texas as a freshman, he also has the added dimension to attack from the back. Greg notched one goal and 5 assists during the 1995, including setting up the Ruckus' lone goal in Game 3 of the Championship. Sheen was very consistent throughout the season, starting 23 of 24 games during the regular season and all 6 playoff games. His strong, consistent play and scoring touch will be a great complement to the 1996 campaign.

Coach's Notes

Charlie Morgan
Coach

After a 1995 season that brought the inaugural Ruckus one victory from the Championship under now Major League Soccer coach Lothar Osiander, former assistant Charlie Morgan has taken on the challenge to lead the second year Atlanta Ruckus to the one thing that they lacked last year, a Championship. For Morgan, 33, he is no stranger to success. Prior to coaching the Ruckus, Morgan led the Atlanta Magic of the USISL to back to back national indoor championships. With a combined two year indoor record of 33-1, he was twice named "Coach of the Year" for the USISL. In 1994, the outdoor Magic made it to the Divisional Final with a record of 16-4. Morgan started his coaching career as an assistant at Georgia State and Clemson Universities.

As a player, Morgan ended his collegiate career by capturing the 1984 NCAA Championship at Clemson. He then went on to play for the 1985 U.S. World University Team in Kobe, Japan. Morgan's illustrious professional career began in 1985 following the World University Games as he joined the Cleveland Force of the MISL and was runner-up for "Rookie of the Year" honors. He then went on to star for the Jacksonville Generals, Atlanta Attack and Kansas City Attack of the NPSL before retiring due to knee injuries. Charlie is married to Katy and they reside in Buckhead with two cats and a dog.

Club History

The 86ers started play in 1987 as one of 8 founding franchises in the Canadian Soccer League.

They joined the A-League in 1993.

This summer the 86ers are celebrating their 10th anniversary season.

Founded by the West Coast Soccer Society, a non-profit society with about 400 members, since 1990 the 86ers have been owned and operated by businessman Milan Ilich, the president of Richmond, B.C.'s Progressive Contracting.

The 86ers captured four straight CSL Cup Finals from 1988-1992.

The 86ers won six straight regular season titles (5 in the CSL and 1 in the A-League) from 1988-1993.

In 1990 the CSL champion 86ers defeated the A-League champion Maryland Bays to win the North American club championship.

During the height of their CSL dynasty the 86ers posted an amazing 46-game undefeated streak (39 wins and 7 ties) over two seasons.

Heading into the 1996 season the 86ers have an all-time regular season record of 128 wins, 60 losses and 28 ties.

Last Season

1995 was a re-building year for the 86ers in the wake of a disastrous 7-13 record in 1994. With no fewer than a dozen new faces on the roster, most of them rookies, the 86ers stumbled out of the gate with a 1-6 start to the '95 campaign.

But head coach Carl Valentine managed to hold the team together and build up the confidence of his youngsters and was eventually rewarded with a 10-14 record and a third place finish in the A-League standings.

The 86ers' fine crop of rookies was led by the trio of Paul Dailly, A-League Rookie of the Year Giuliano Oliviero and Martin Nash, all of whom finished in the top ten in the league scoring race.

The 22-year-old midfielder signed with the 86ers June 5, 1995 and made his A-League debut just 4 days later, scoring the only 86er goal in a 3-1 loss to Atlanta...He then made it 6 goals in his first 6 A-League games, breaking Domenic Mobilio's 86er club record for consecutive game goal-scoring streak in the process...In his first season with the team Giuliano led the 86ers in goals with 9 and added 1 assist, good for 6th place in the league scoring race ...He was named the A-League Rookie of the Year and voted to the First All-Star team in a post-season poll by the league's coaches ...He spent the off-season playing indoor soccer with Milwaukee of the NPSL...A former regular with the Canadian National U-20 team, Giuliano is currently with the Canadian Olympic (U-23) team.

Domenic Mobilio
Forward/Midfielder

Ht: 5-11 Wt: 175
DOB: January 14, 1969

Professional:

The 86ers all-time leading scorer, Domenic has 99 career regular season A-League and CSL goals, but only one of those goals came in an injury-plagued 1995 campaign...A ruptured hamstring limited Domenic's playing time last year to 7 late season games as a second half substitute...After spending the winter playing indoor soccer with Harrisburg of the NPSL Mobilio has regained his fitness and his familiar goal scoring form...In addition to his 99 regular season goals Domenic has found the back of the net 13 times in 18 career CSL and A-League playoff games...Individual honours include CSL All-Star selections in 88, 90 and 91, the 91 CSL Scoring Title (when he scored a league record 25 goals), the 91 CSL MVP Award and Second All-Star team honours in the A-League in 93...Domenic has 20 full caps for Canada's National Team.

Club History

February 1989: The Colorado Foxes Professional Soccer franchise was awarded to the Nixdorf Family of Paderborn, Germany. Team headquarters were based at Stroh Ranch in Parker, Colorado, also owned by the Nixdorf Family.

1990: The season saw the Foxes play a 20-game schedule within the APSL's Western Soccer League Conference, and finish in third place with a 14-6 record. Although the Foxes scored just 22 goals in 20 games this season, Foxes goalkeeper Mark Dodd set a still-standing League record with 13 shutouts and a Goals Against Average of 0.36.

1991: The season saw the Foxes miss the playoffs for the first time after finishing the season winning 5 of their last 6 games, bringing their overall record for the season to 13-8. The Foxes scored 37 goals in 21 games, led by APSL Rookie of the Year Zico Doe, who contributed 12 goals throughout the year.

1992: The Foxes were crowned APSL Champions, after defeating Tampa Bay 1-0. Under new Head Coach Dave Dir, the Foxes won 13 of 18 APSL matches and a 20-6-1 overall record for the year. The Foxes were led by APSL Most Valuable Player and Rookie of the Year Taifour Diane, who scored 10 goals, and goalkeeper Mark Dodd, who won a second GAA title (0.97), beating out teammate Jim St. Andre (1.22).

1993: The Foxes became "Back-to-Back" APSL Champions by defeating Los Angeles 3-1 in overtime before a national TV audience. Down 0-1 with 3 minutes remaining in the second half, Robert Lipp assisted Ted Eck in the tying goal that sent the game into overtime. The Foxes finished the season with an overall record of 15-9, which tied them for first with Vancouver.

1994: Foxes Assistant Coach and Player Personnel Director Lorne Donaldson assumed Head Coaching duties just 3 days before the season start. After a roller coaster season, the Foxes defeated regular-season Champion Seattle in a three-game playoff series to reach their third consecutive Championship Game, only to lose to Montreal 0-1.

Last Season

After a streak of three consecutive trips to the A-League Championship Game, the Colorado Foxes ended 1995 with an 8-16 season record. This was only the second time in team history that the Foxes did not make the playoffs. The 1995 Foxes fielded several members of the 1992 and 1993 A-League Championship teams with widely-acclaimed rookies, and it was not unusual for as many as five of the ten first-year players to be found in the starting lineup.

The season ended up being a roller coaster ride for the Foxes, who began by dropping their first 4 games. After winning four of the next 5, Colorado looked to be a team starting to gel and making their way up the A-League standings.

The Foxes then dropped a two-game, home-and-home series with Vancouver, seeing their record fall to 4-7. Finally, in mid-July, the Foxes offense caught fire, fighting to put the club just one game under .500 at the All-Star break, just past the season's midway point.

Just when fans thought the squad was beginning to find themselves, however, the Foxes were beset by injuries, losing several key players for critical games. From July 28 to August 23, the Foxes lost 7 straight matches, a franchise record for consecutive losses.

Despite their 6-14 mark, the Foxes had a chance to catch Atlanta and capture the 4th and final playoff spot, just two weeks prior to the close of the regular season. Despite a valiant Foxes effort, the Ruckus won in a shootout, 3-2.

Jeff Hooker
Forward

Ht: 5-10 Wt: 175

Professional:

Starting his sixth season with the Foxes, Jeff "Hooks" Hooker is the fifth leading scorer in Foxes history and tenth in the Foxes' all-time minutes played. A 1987 All-American from UCLA, Jeff spent four years with the L.A. Heat of the Western Soccer League before joining the Foxes in 1991. A member of the U.S. National Team from 1984-87, he scored one goal, earned 14 CAPS and made the NCAA All-Far West Team each year during the same time period. Jeff also serves as the University of Denver Women's Soccer Team Head Coach.

Chris Martinez
Defender

Ht: 6-2 Wt: 185

Professional:

Coming into his fourth year with the Foxes, it wasn't until the '95 campaign that Chris "Big Red" Martinez became a major contributor. A native of Parker, CO, Chris is a graduate of Ponderosa High School and is known for his aggressive defense as well as his uncanny ability to win balls in the air. He missed all but two International Challenge Series games in 1994 due to a back injury and was also a member of the 1989 United States Olympic Festival squad.

Wolde Harris
Forward

Ht: 5-10 Wt: 190

Professional:

Wolde comes to the Foxes after a brilliant career with Clemson University, which saw him set numerous school records and receive many honors. He holds Clemson's All-Time career scoring record with 76 goals and is second on their career points list with 170. He's only the second player in Atlantic Coast Conference history to score 20 or more goals in three consecutive seasons and is second on the ACC career list for most goals scored. He was named pre-season All-American by both Soccer News and Soccer America his senior year, as well as second team All-ACC both his junior and sophomore year, and first team All-American by Soccer News his junior year and second team All-American his sophomore year.

Coach's Notes

Lorne Donaldson
Coach

Beginning his third season as the Foxes Head Coach, Lorne Donaldson has been with the club since its inception in 1990, in numerous capacities. He began as a player under then Head Coach Emilio Romero, but made his greatest impact on the club by running instructional camps for youth players during the summer.

In 1991, Donaldson became an assistant coach under Romero. That year saw the Foxes increase their goal output by scoring 37 goals, a +15 increase over the year before when Donaldson was a player. During the 1992 and 1993 season, Donaldson was an assistant coach and Player Personnel Director for the Foxes under new Head Coach Dave Dir.

As a coach, Donaldson believed constant forward pressure and relentless attacking of the opposing team's defense would reap great rewards. As Player Personnel Director, Donaldson was soon rewarded when he found a player to fit his desired style of play, Taifour Diane. Donaldson used Diane's speed and skill to rip up Brooklyn, New York's Prospect Park league. Diane, under Donaldson's tutelage, went on to win several A-League honors, including MVP and Rookie of the Year.

With many of the veteran players gone from the Foxes squad of a year ago, Coach Donaldson will be looking to last year's rookies to provide leadership. Says Donaldson, "Last year's rookies will provide this year's stability and they will generate the energy and the teamwork that will take us back to the top of the league."

Club History

The concept of forming the New York Fever began in 1993 by Bob Butler. By the spring of 1994, the NY Fever were granted a franchise in the third division United Systems of Independent Soccer Leagues (USISL). The team was also sanctioned as a professional soccer club by the United States Soccer Federation (USSF). In their first season, the Fever finished 9-11 placing sixth in the USISL's Northeast Division. Building on the experience, the Fever managed to become the 1995 USISL Northeast Division Champions. The Fever were regional hosts for the 1995 USISL "Sizzlin' Nine" Championship series and finished with a stellar record of 21-6.

The growth of soccer in the USA also saw expansion in 1995 at the Division 2 A-League. The New York Centaurs were formed by businessman Roger Gorevic, a native of England. Playing their inaugural season at Downing Stadium in New York City, the Centaurs finished at 7-17. As plans for the MLS unfolded and other squads inquired about professional status, management from both the Fever and Centaurs took stock of their positions and began reassessing their business plans. After initial inquiries built into serious discussions, both squads felt that combining the two teams into one entity would be in everyone's best interest. The merger of the New York Centaurs and the New York Fever was formally announced on January 31, 1996. The team will now play in the Division 2 "A-League" as the New York Fever. The team looks forward to the 1996 season, building on its concept of community outreach and quality family entertainment.

Last Season

The New York Fever, led by former US National Peter Vermes' 38 total points, won the USISL Northeast Division Championship with a 21-6 record. As regional hosts for the USISL "Sizzlin' Nine" Championship series, the Fever edged a strong squad from Hawaii before losing to the Minnesota Thunder in a shoot-out. The New York Centaurs finished their A-League season at 7-17, playing 500 ball against the two squads in the A-League Championship, Seattle and Atlanta. The Centaurs, participating in the US Open Cup, defeated the Connecticut Wolves 3-0 while down a man, before losing to the Chicago Sting 1-0 in the round-of-eight.

Coach's Notes

Mark Shearer
Head Coach

New York Fever head coach Mark Shearer's outstanding playing record, and even more impressive pro coaching record (41-14), combine to make him one of the most successful U.S. soccer coaches...at the tender age of 28! His first "Fever" year saw a stunning turnaround, as he transformed the team with a 9-1 1994 record to a 1995 championship team with 21 wins and only 6 losses—results achieved despite a player budget that was slashed in half. Shearer credits the Fever's success to his "keep it simple" philosophy: "Work as a unit to win the ball back from your opponents. Then keep possession or put it in their net!"

As a player, Shearer appeared with the England U-18 National Team, gaining caps against Scotland and Switzerland, and played four years with Fairleigh Dickinson University, including two NCAA Division I Championship competitions (1988-1989). Shearer also spent several periods with Newcastle United, and credits Kevin Keegan (for whom Shearer is a U.S. player scout) with influencing his coaching philosophies.

A proven winner, Shearer looks forward to the "new challenge" and "fierce competition" the A-League has to offer. In addition to assisting with the Fever's youth camp, Shearer also owns and directs Tri-State Soccer School, a New Jersey-based professional youth coaching organization that draws 2,000 children a year to its varied programs.

Club History

The Rochester Raging Rhinos may be an A-League expansion team for the upcoming 1996 season, but soccer fans in the Rochester area are no strangers to the sport - in fact, Rochester has quite a tradition of the world's most watched game. The Rochester Lancers of the North American Soccer League had great clubs in the late '60's and early '70's, including a NASL championship in 1970. It was only natural for the ownership group of Steve Donner, Frank DuRoss and Chris Economides to form and bring professional soccer back to Rochester.

The unique Rochester ownership group combines the financial, business and hockey ownership experience of DuRoss, the fifteen years of sports marketing and management of Donner in hockey and lacrosse and the soccer background and ownership of Economides. In its inaugural season, the Rhinos will play at Frontier Field, Rochester's new downtown stadium that seats 14,000 for soccer.

The Raging Rhinos nickname was selected by a "Name the Team" contest, which drew over 1,500 entries with 500 different names. Narrowed to a list of ten names, a celebrity panel chose four names, which included Rhinos, Rampage, Ravens and Roccers. Realizing the character and marketing possibilities of Rhinos, the club selected an animal most known for its tenacious and tough identity.

Pat Ercoli, a veteran of the NASL and indoor professional soccer, will take the coaching reins for the Rhinos in their inaugural season. Ercoli, a native of Toronto, starred for the Rochester Lancers in the late 1970's as a midfielder. He recently has been an assistant coach with Finger Lakes Community College and Monroe Community College in the Rochester area. Assisting Ercoli this season will be former Lancer teammate Frank Odoi, a native of Ghana who played professional soccer for 18 seasons, including representing Ghana in the 1964 Tokyo Olympics.

The Rhinos have signed several key players over the winter months, including forwards Zoran Karic and Doug Miller from the indoor Cleveland Crunch, midfielders Andrew "Yogi" McKay (Buffalo-NPSL) and Tommy Tanner (Cleveland-NPSL), defenders Matt Knowles (Milwaukee-NPSL), Rene Rivas (Brazil), Marco Rizi (Buffalo-NPSL) and goalkeeper Bill Andracki (Atlanta-A-League). With the addition of a talented crop of local players, the Rhinos hope to vie for the A-League championship in their first season of play.

Doug Miller

Doug Miller will be the Rhinos "deep threat" this season, an exciting player that will be a key figure in Rochester's offense in their inaugural season. The forward will mainly play the outside wing position, and Rhino's Head Coach Pat Ercoli will utilize his speed in one-on-one battles with the opposition's defender. "We want him to be isolated on the outside," explained Ercoli. "Doug's a quick player who is able to work the outside position very well."

Miller, 27, has played the last two outdoor seasons with the New York Fever of the USISL, and also has A-League experience with the Maryland Bays during the 1991 outdoor season. An accomplished indoor player as well, Miller was third in team scoring for the Cleveland Crunch this past winter in the NPSL. Traded to the Crunch from Harrisburg during the 1993-94 indoor season, the native of Newark, New Jersey, has five years indoor experience, including his first season of professional soccer with Baltimore of the MISL in 1991-92. Miller played his college soccer at Loyola-Baltimore.

Zoran Karic

When Head Coach Pat Ercoli was hired by the Rhinos, he promised an offensive-minded team. He then went out and signed four defenders and a goalkeeper. Rochester soccer fans were asking where the fuel for the fire was. When the Rhinos signed striker Zoran Karic, Ercoli had suddenly supplied "high-test" to the Rhinos offense.

Karic, 34, has been a long-time offensive machine in the indoor game. One of the all-time leading point scorers in the NPSL and MISL, Karic has played for San Diego (1987-1989) and Cleveland (1989-1996) during his indoor career. Karic won two MISL championships in San Diego, and was a West Division All-Star during the 1989-90 season. Traded to Cleveland during that season, Karic led the MISL in goals (73) in 1990-91, was the league scoring champ in 1991-92, and was selected a First Team All-Star in 1992-93. His best season was the following year, when Karic was the NPSL Most Valuable Player, earning First Team All-Star accolades and led the league in points and assists, setting NPSL all-time records in the process.

During the 1994-95 campaign, Zoran was a First Team All-Star and Co-MVP of the league's all-star game. Karic finished second in league scoring to teammate Hector Marinaro this past season. The native of Kacarevo, Yugoslavia starred with international power Partizan Belgrade before beginning his indoor career in the United States in 1987.

Helping to solidify the midfield position in the Rhinos first season of A-League play is Tommy Tanner. A native of Syracuse, New York, Tanner will be considered a "local boy" in Rochester, and he promises to excite the Rhino faithful with his superb playmaking skills.

Tanner has five seasons of indoor experience, all with Cleveland. In 1991-92 he was named the MISL's Rookie of the Year in his freshman season of pro soccer. The 5'8", 150-pounder has been a solid force for the Crunch, enjoying his best season in 1993-94 when he notched 83 points in 40 games. Tanner finished sixth on the Crunch in scoring this past season with 71 points in 29 games.

A two-time Parade Magazine All-American at Syracuse Henninger High School, Tanner was selected All-New York State three times during his high school career. Tommy was a two-time All-Atlantic Coast Conference selection during his college career at North Carolina State, helping the Wolfpack to a NCAA Final Four appearance his senior season.

Coach's Notes

Pat Ercoli
Coach

Guiding the Rochester Rhinos in their inaugural season of A-League play will be Pat Ercoli, a 37-year-old native of Toronto who is no stranger to Rochester soccer fans. Ercoli starred for the Rochester Lancers of the NASL for three seasons (1978-80), where his hard work and tenacious play made him a fan favorite. He will bring that same philosophy to the Rhinos as he prepares the expansion club for its first season.

Ercoli began his professional soccer career with Toronto Italia (NSL) in 1976 before moving to the Toronto Castors the following season, where they captured a championship. While thrilling Rochester soccer fans during his Lancer years, Ercoli also adopted the indoor game, playing for the New York Arrows (MISL). Ercoli also played for Detroit, Buffalo and Baltimore in the MISL before closing his ten-year professional career with the Cleveland Force.

He captured three MISL division championships and one overall league title while in Baltimore.

Since his retirement from the pro game, Ercoli has lived in Rochester with his wife and four children while entering private business in the area. He kept active in soccer by coaching youth leagues, and spent time as an assistant coach with Finger Lakes Community College and Monroe Community College, both Rochester area two-year schools.

Ercoli promises a hardworking club that will be entertaining and offensive-minded. The Rhinos hope that this blueprint for success will lead them into a contending position in the A-League come September.

After many years in the signage business, Metro Sport/Event Signage knows the unique problems faced by users of on-site sports signage.

Our Transframe™ systems were specifically designed to meet those special needs in an attractive, versatile and convenient way.

The standard Transframes are a free standing sign frame system consisting of three 4' rigid bars interconnected with 3' collapsible braces. Your sign is attached on one or both sides with Velcro™ strips, creating the viewing surfaces.

Transframe can be easily ballasted or staked before or after applying the signs in the case of unusually rough weather.

Convenient

Each set of four 4' interlockable sections form a triangle frame of unlimited length. Transframe sections fit into a 6"x5'-1/2" mailing tube when retracted. The tube was specifically designed to be strong enough for repeated shipping and storage: the size and 70 lb. weight allows it to easily up to any location. These same features mean 20' of Transframe can be assembled by one person in less than ten minutes.

On Site Mobility

Anyone with experience in sport signage knows that adaptability is a vital characteristic.

Transframe's light weight and convenient size make movement simple, allowing you the absolute maximum in on-air visibility.

Self-Contained

Each Transframe section folds to an easily manageable 4' length. In addition, each section is completely assembled, and absolutely no tool are needed.

The Metro commitment to quality is evident in every detail. Each Transframe section is constructed of aluminum and galvanized steel, ensuring smooth dependable performance for years to come.

Transframe can be customized to your specifications to better meet your precise requirements. Custom sizes and contours are also available.

Metro has the experience and technical knowledge necessary to produce your Transframe signs quickly and accurately. Commonly used materials include Tyvek™, Lexan™, masonite, PVC and vinyl.

The new TF 90, accepts hardboard or fabric with ease while providing a 90° angle. Frames may also be purchased separately.

Your Transframe purchase assures you more than a carefully crafted promotional signage system. You have the added advantage of working with experienced Metro professionals, who offer the highest quality products and service in the industry.

Transframe Systems include all components for assembly.

Versatile

The interlocking Transframe system forms continuously linkable signage, excellent for use on even the most irregular or hard to manage surface. The signs can be made of any durable fabric or hardboard and changed in a matter of minutes, creating almost unlimited design options.

To further customize your look, any individual or joined Transframe section can stand on end to create a kiosk or highly visible three-sided pyramid.

SAVE THE RHINO - It's a Goal

BY T. NICHOLS

The Rochester Raging Rhinos may be new in town, but the animal we get our name from is millions of years old. With just five species existing on earth, the rhinoceros is an endangered animal threatened with extinction.

Able to adapt well in nature, these tough-skinned creatures live in Africa and Asia. They feed on grasses in the plains or in swamps. The biggest is the White Rhino, weighing in at 7,000 pounds. This grazer has the longest horns, over six feet. The Black Rhino has two horns and can run at 35 m.p.h., but his eyesight is terrible and charges often miss. When you see a rhino you can appreciate the size and power. The Buffalo Zoo has one, Henry, a Greater One-Horned Rhino. Hank's species lives in India and Nepal and loves the water.

Rhinos are fighting a war with human poachers. Killed for their valuable horn, 90% of the earth's rhinos have disappeared since 1970. Used as medicine and as dagger handles, the rhino horn, made of keratin just like your fingernails, is illegally traded. The few wild rhinos that survive live in National Parks and Sanctuaries. The Rhino Trust listed below funds sanctuaries that protect rare rhinoceros in Kenya and Java.

Leon Minott Plays a Role On and Off the Field

Rhino Defender Adds Local Flavor

By Justin Raj

When talking with Rhinos defender Leon Minott you sense immediately that he is not your stereotypical professional athlete. There is calmness around him, even though he and his team are in the midst of whirlwind.

Since the Rochester Raging Rhinos kicked off their first season in the A-League, they have struggled to find their identity, at times brilliant in their play, while other times uninspired. Leon Minott is a man who knows firmly who he is and what is important to him. Dedicated to his family and his faith, Minott knows that soccer, while important, is just one piece of a much larger picture.

Born in Spanishtown, Jamaica, Leon grew up with five brothers and four sisters. Yet, he quickly became part of an even larger extended family of children who played soccer in the field across the street from his house.

"When I was two years old, the older kids used to come get me to play soccer before I could even kick the ball," said Minott, about his first experiences with the game he would grow to love. Leon's early introduction to the game fostered a passion for it. He would play almost daily as a youth.

While attending high school, Leon's daily battles with his friends across the street from his house would pay off. "I attended one of the top high schools both academically and athletically in the entire country. Because of this I gained a lot of exposure as a player on a national level," remarked Minott. That exposure turned into an offer to play for Jamaica's Junior National Team and a spot on Boystown, one of the country's top club teams.

With both squads, Leon made the most of his opportunities. He led Boystown to every possible championship in Jamaica in 1989, and in doing so he was named MVP of the league. His success at home did not go unnoticed, Leon was recruited by major colleges and universities across America, including Syracuse and Howard University. Yet, he chose Roberts Wesleyan College here in Rochester.

"At the time I was choosing a college, I did not know the difference between Division One, Two, or Three. So when I chose Roberts it was not a decision based on soccer, because if soccer was my priority I would not have gone to college. I decided to go to college to get my degree, so I could get a good job to help my family," stated Leon.

Minott considers Roberts Wesleyan a rewarding experience. He graduated with a bachelor's degree in accounting and met his wife, Beth, while at the school. And, it is these two things that have allowed Leon to define himself outside of the game of soccer and to find that identity for which his team is still searching.

His job with a local accounting firm in Henrietta has allowed him to work with BOCES, where he is gotten an opportunity to give back to kids what was given to him by older friends back in Jamaica so long ago. As a player, Leon credits his toughness to always being a little bit smaller and younger and having to fight harder to win balls away from his opponents. As a person, he credits his achievements to God and those who taught him how to succeed in life outside of soccer.

"I have been given so much, I just want to give back to kids what was given to me. It so important for children, especially African-American children, to have good role models. For some of them their only role models are people in gangs, driving fancy cars and wearing fancy clothes. Driving fancy cars and wearing fancy clothes are fine, I just want to show kids there is a better way to get them," he added.

Minott's three children are a constant reminder of the role he must play. "My son, Keanen, who is four, is a soccer player himself. If he sees me wearing a certain spot on the Rhinos gives him, Leon believes that by helping kids on the field, he can better their lives off of it.

"You see young kids playing soccer and they are so talented," stated Leon, regarding his commitment to youth, "But as they grow older they seem to lose their talent and love of the game. I want to eventually coach and help kids maintain their focus on the game. I believe that they can take the hard work on the field and apply it to other parts of their life."

Religion is also a large part of Leon's life. He credits his faith for his success both on the field and off. "I can not stress enough the role God plays in my life. He has given me the ability to achieve all that I have achieved," said Leon.

Minott is confident that the Rhinos will be able to find their identity this season, just as he as found his own. "I look ahead to the rest of the season and I look at the guys around me and the other teams in the league, and I'm excited.

We have struggled at times to get the chemistry that we need, but it is a learning experience. In back, Hector (Marinaro), Yuri (Smotrich), and I have worked out many of our problems and it has showed as we have improved every match. It just a matter of time before we come into our own."

"I have been given so much, I just want to give back to kids what was given to me..."

kind of shoe, he wants it. It worries me sometimes, like it does for all parents. But, it also reminds me that I have to be a role model and carry myself properly because my kids as well as other kids look up to me," said Leon.

Soccer, he believes, is not only a way to express himself and to support his family, but his opportunity to be a role model as well. Along with the recognition his

By Mike Latona

Aside from some bundled-up athletes on the soccer field and a few curious students craning their necks as they walked by, the University of Rochester's Fauver Stadium was completely deserted.

Cold vapor shot out of the soccer players' mouths as they ran through their drills. Light snow had fallen earlier that late-April day, making it hard to believe that the team's season opener was less than two weeks away.

At that point, the darkly tanned Billy Andracki may have been wondering exactly what he'd gotten himself into. For someone whose previous outdoor professional soccer career was spent in Georgia and Florida, he could sum up this frigid spring weather in one word.

Yuck.

"This is crazy," the Raging Rhinos' goalie said in disbelief. "When I first got here (in early April), we were running in rain and snow. Every day you wake up and say, 'It's going to be nice today,' and every day it's not."

Weather aside, however, Andracki is anything but a complainer. In fact, the 6-ft., 185-pound goalie gets as excited as a kid on Christmas morning when discussing the first-year Rhinos' prospects for success.

"After all is said and done, this team can compete for, and win, the

Ready for Success!

Seasoned goalie provides winning attitude for Rhinos

A-League," Andracki said. "Anything less would be a letdown."

Andracki's own abilities lend credibility to his prediction. As he begins his fifth year in professional soccer, the 27-year-old Andracki brings a diversified list of experience to the Rhinos.

Andracki, a native of Prince William, Va., was an NCAA All-American at Rutgers University in his senior season of 1992. That year he led his team to the Division I national final, and made a heroic effort in the championship game against UCLA. Andracki held the Bruins scoreless through regulation and overtime, but the Scarlet Knights came up short in a tie-breaking shootout and were defeated 1-0.

A similar experience greeted Andracki in his rookie pro season with the Tampa Bay Rowdies of the American Professional Soccer League. Though he only gave up one goal in the A-League title contest against Colorado, that was the game's only score in a 1-0 loss. Andracki finished his sparkling rookie campaign with a 1.55 goals-against average and five shutouts to net the A-League's 1992 Rookie of the Year and Goalie of the Year honors. In addition, Soccer Digest voted him Player of the Year.

Andracki spent one more year in Tampa before moving to Atlanta for the 1994 and 1995 outdoor seasons. He also owns four seasons of indoor experience, playing three years with Cleveland of the National Professional Soccer League before switching to Tampa Bay this past winter.

It was indoors that Andracki finally achieved his elusive championship: he served as backup goalie for the 1992-93 Cleveland team that captured the NPSL crown. Andracki's playing rights were recently traded to Chicago, where he plans to play in the winter of 1996-97.

In the meantime, Andracki will be an integral part of the Rhinos' defense – not only with his skills, but also with his awareness of A-League opponents.

"I'll know probably 90 percent of the guys on the other teams," he remarked. "I'll know their strengths and weaknesses, and definitely give my two cents' worth – who's going to take free kicks; how they're going to do corner kicks."

Good team chemistry further fuels Andracki's optimism about the Rhinos. "It's a great bunch of guys; everybody gets along really well. Some teams jell and some don't, but these guys are soccer-knowledgeable and they're personable, too," he said. "Everybody's ready to go. There's a lot of excitement."

An additional cause for enthusiasm is the Rhinos' scheduled move in mid-July to Frontier Field. Andracki, who can view the new facility from his downtown Rochester apartment, reports that Frontier is a perfect soccer fit for a city of this size.

"When I was playing in Tampa Stadium, that was a 70,000-seat place with 4,000-5,000 people in the stands. It seemed like there were two people out there," he remarked. "But this stadium should provide a real soccer atmosphere."

Finally, Andracki noted, he senses the general hoopla over the Rhinos' arrival in a city that has gone without pro soccer for more than a decade.

"In Tampa, we pretty much fell off the front page of the sports section. But this area, in the little time I've been here, has given the most coverage to soccer that I've seen," he said. "All these TV cameras are out to the practices. And, I think this city's dying for a championship."

Andracki hopes to return to Rochester beyond this season, saying he'd love to stay an extended period. Yet in the life of a soccer player, he also knows it's pretty hard to plan far ahead.

"I've been away from home ever since I was 17 years old. Every six months you're beginning a new set of adventures," Andracki said. "I can tell you how to get from Point A to Point B in so many cities."

He added that this nomadic existence has lost some of its appeal in recent years. "At the beginning of my playing career I wasn't too unhappy with the lifestyle; it wasn't too much of a hassle. I could live out of my car and hop from city to city every six months," he said. "Now, as you get older, you want to settle down. You want to have, if not a wife and a family, a dog or puppy – but I can't even have that. You're really a drifter. My parents live in Orlando now, and when I stay with them that's the closest thing I have to a home."

However, he added that the Rhinos management has made him feel very much at home.

"Of all the teams I've played for, this is the best in terms of treating you as a professional," he remarked. "Chris (Economides) and Pat (Ercoli) are more personal and more up-front than any general manager or coach I've ever dealt with. And in this sport, I know so many guys who go to teams and when paycheck time comes, there's no paycheck."

"Of all the teams I've played for, this is the best in terms of treating you as a professional..."

Andracki has no plans to scale back his playing schedule any time soon, so a return to Rochester next summer is a distinct possibility. And, after a solid winter in Tampa Bay that saw rise to the No. 1 goalie status for the first time with any indoor team, Andracki is on a big roll.

"It doesn't always show up in the goals-against average, but right now my game is very good. I feel as comfortable as I have in a while, and I haven't really begun to touch the goals I've set. There are still many plateaus I want to reach."

At this point, those plateaus are all soccer-related. Andracki hopes to attain his bachelor's degree in finance over the next couple of years – he's 12 credits short – but for now, his superior athletic skills will provide the bulk of his income. "I love to play and it's my living," he concluded.

The New Pro Sports Team in Town

Rhinos Emerge from the Jungle

It started as a casual meeting between two American Hockey League owners and has subsequently turned into an all-out sports happening this summer in the city of Rochester. Rhinomania has arrived in town, and has taken the area by storm in this soccer-rich community.

It didn't take long for Rochester Americans Hockey President and CEO Steve Donner to convince Providence Bruins Co-owner Frank DuRoss that a professional soccer team would be successful in this area. Rochester has a proud soccer tradition, one that dates back to the mid-1960's with the Rochester Lancers of the NASL and continued with the Rochester Flash in the early 1980's. The area supports over 25,000 youths that play in various organizations around the country.

Rochester has always been able to provide contending teams in the professional ranks, an area that is admittedly not a major metropolitan city, but one that has a proud tradition of championship teams, (from the Amerks Calder Cups to the Red Wings Governor's Cup trophies). The Rochester Knighthawks lacrosse team finished their second season of play in the MILL with their second trip to the playoffs. The Lancers captured the NASL title in 1970 and over 25 years later, the Rhinos hope to bring another pro soccer championship crown to this city.

The unique Rhinos ownership group combines the financial, business and hockey ownership experience of DuRoss, the fifteen years of sports marketing and management of Donner (hockey and lacrosse) and the soccer background of Chris Economides. Economides, a native of Rochester, owned the Kansas City Attack of the NPSL indoor professional league from 1991 to 1993, bringing a championship to the city in 1992-93. As general manager, Economides will assemble a team of players who combine world-class experience with a local flavor of the area's best soccer players.

The Rhinos have a 28-game regular season schedule, 14 home and 14 away. One exhibition contest against a world-class European club will be held over the summer, with other exhibition games to be scheduled as the season progresses. Rochester will play their first four home games at the University of Rochester's Fauver Stadium while Frontier Field is completed. The downtown multi-purpose stadium located on the corner of North Plymouth Avenue and Platt Street will feature 14,000 seats for soccer, 20 suites for corporate use, a picnic and party area during games and a terrific view of the skyline of downtown Rochester. The Rhinos will debut at Frontier Field on July 12, the first-ever sporting event to be held in the stadium.

So how does a northern city, well-known for its beautiful summers, but better known for its brutal winters, boast a nickname of a rhinoceros for its soccer team? It's all in the image, you see. The "Raging Rhino" was selected by a name-the-team contest through Gannett Rochester newspapers with over 1,500 entries collected and 500 different names suggested. Narrowed to a list of ten names, a celebrity panel, consisting of Gannett sports columnist Bob Matthews, WROC TV's Wanda Miller, WHEC TV's Rich Funke, former Lancers star Carlos Meditereri and Penfield high school coach John Butterworth chose four names to submit to Rhino management, which included Rhinos, Rampage, Ravens and Roccers.

Realizing the character and marketing possibilities of the Rhino, the team selected an animal best known for its tenacious and tough identity. "Raging" was added as a third option for the franchise name, a subtle way of telling the public that this team will not be taken for granted on the field. The Rhinos logo, a caricature of a determined rhinoceros with a soccer ball stuck on its horn, was a collaboration of ideas produced by Neil Stein of Stein Design and Bill Steinmiller of Steinmiller Design. Already a hot merchandise item around the country, Rhinowear is available in local stores or at Rhino home games.

By early March, the team had management and staff, a coach, team colors, a logo and a nickname. Now it needed players. General Manager Economides and Head Coach Pat Ercoli set out to shape a team that was an offensive power—and promptly signed five defensive players. Goalkeeper Bill Andracki led the Atlanta Ruckus to the A-League championship game last season, while sweeper Rene Rivas of Brazil won a championship with S.C. Campomaior in Portugal. Adding defender Marco Rizi from the Buffalo Blizzard indoor league along with local products Tim Ashe and Leon Minott make the Rhinos a tough line of defense.

will head a group of midfielders with plenty of experience. McKay played last winter with the Blizzard in Buffalo and will team with fellow indoor players Tommy Tanner (Cleveland) and Danny Kelly (Harrisburg) to strengthen the midfield position for Coach Ercoli.

Getting back to the explosive offense, it took awhile for management to supply gas to the attack, but their patience has been rewarded. The Rhinos signed forward Zoran Karic, a perennial all-star and leading scorer for the Cleveland Crunch. Cleveland teammate and winger Doug Miller was also added, along with St. John Fisher grad Darrell Stuart (a native of Jamaica) and Carl Hopfinger. Expected to join the club in June is Kofi Debra, one of Ghana's brightest young stars.

Ercoli, along with Assistant Coach Frank Odoi, began training camp in early April. Teammates on the Lancers in the late 1970's, Ercoli and Odoi promise a club that is exciting, hardworking and fun to watch. Ercoli expects the first-year franchise to be competitive and challenge the league leaders.

The Rhinos will broadcast all games, home and away, on WBBF AM-950 and WBER FM-90.5. Don Stevens, the Voice of the Amerks, will slide behind the microphone to call all of the play-by-play action. Rochester will also be seen on television this season, coast-to-coast, as Prime Network will carry an A-League Game of the Week every Friday night during the summer. The Rhinos will be featured seven times, including their home opener on May 10 and their July 12 debut at Frontier Field. Locally, the Empire Sports Network will carry the Prime/A-League schedule, either live or on a tape-delayed basis.

Major League soccer is back in Rochester, and the Raging Rhinos will charge onto the scene with exciting soccer action.

AIRPLANES

Fact #1: We use more airplanes than FedEx® and UPS® combined to make sure your priority package or envelope gets to its destination.

Fact #2: We have 165,000 more trucks than FedEx and 70,000 more than UPS to make sure your priority package or envelope can be delivered to any address you want in the U.S.

MORE TRUCKS

MORE DROP-OFF POINTS

Fact #3: If you prefer, you can drop off your Priority Mail™ envelope at any one of 330,000 locations. That's 288,000 more than FedEx and 250,000 more than UPS.

Fact #4: Unlike FedEx and UPS, you don't have to make a special call for a Priority Mail pick-up. Your everyday postal letter carrier can see that it gets the attention it deserves.

MORE PICK-UP POINTS

MORE ADDRESSES

Fact #5: Priority Mail delivers to every address and P.O. Box in the U.S. FedEx doesn't. UPS doesn't.

FREE SATURDAY DELIVERY

Fact #6: Priority Mail gives you Saturday delivery at no extra charge. FedEx doesn't. UPS doesn't.

A MOMENT OF ANTICIPATION. A SEASON OF INSPIRATION.

It's been years in the making. But the birth of a professional soccer system in North America has given hundreds of our best players a reason to take their games to the next level.

At the heart of it all stands the A-League. And as its official sponsor, Umbro salutes every player who is testing his skills against some of the best young talent in the world. Your struggle and dedication will inspire millions to reach for their own personal best.
